FRIENDS OF THE HENDERSON DISTRICT PUBLIC LIBRARIES

Who are the Friends of the Henderson District Public Libraries?

The Friends of the Henderson District Public Libraries are persons who value libraries as centers of lifelong learning and leisure. Friends contribute money and/or time to support library services and programs.

What is the vision of the Friends?

The Friends of the Henderson District Public Libraries envision a strong and ongoing partnership with the Henderson libraries—a partnership that has unlimited potential for expanding and enriching informational, educational, cultural, and recreational opportunities in the Henderson community.

What is the mission of the Friends?

The Friends of the Henderson District Public Libraries engage in a threefold mission: advocacy, communication, and support.

ADVOCACY

Friends champion the development, growth, and improvement of library resources, services, and facilities.

COMMUNICATION

Friends promote community awareness and understanding of library resources and functions.

Friends exchange ideas and information that allow for sound decisions and successful outcomes.

SUPPORT

Friends enlist monetary and in-kind resources for the District from organizations and individual members of the community.

Friends define and implement the volunteer roles that they can play in addressing District needs.

Friends fund projects, mutually agreed upon with the District staff, through annual allocations, one-time grants, and local, state, and national partnerships.

What are the priorities of the Friends for 2012?

The Friends have three priorities for 2012: to establish a steady income and operating budget, to communicate more effectively; and to increase active membership—both those who pledge financial support and those who pledge volunteer hours. Friends support programs such as Reading with Rover and the Summer Reading Programs.
